

303rd BG (H) Combat Mission No. 261

22 October 1944

Target: Tank Assembly Plant at Brunswick, Germany

Crews Dispatched: 39

Length of Mission: 6 hours, 50 minutes

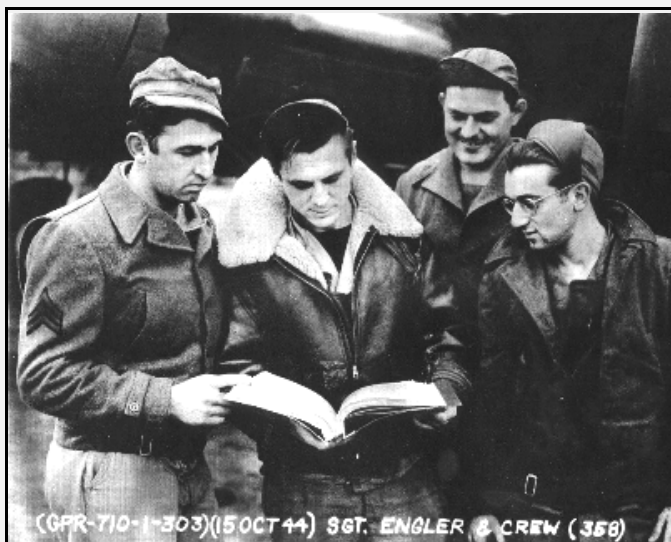

Bomb Load: 6 x 500 lb H.E. M43 & 6 x 500 lb M17 Incendiaries

Bombing Altitudes: 29,400, 29,200 & 29,100 ft

Ammo Fired: 5,850 rounds

An almost perfect mission was flown with only three aircraft sustaining minor damage from flak. There were no enemy aircraft attacks, although two crews reported seeing a few ME-109s. Good support was provided by 379 P-51s and P-47s. Chaff helped keep flak to moderate and inaccurate fire. There were no casualties and all aircraft returned to Molesworth. B-17G #42-107099 Old 99, 427BS (Lt. Drewry) returned early due to engine trouble. Its bombs were jettisoned.

Thirty-seven B-17s dropped a total of 222 500-lb. H.E. M43 and 222 500-lb. incendiary bombs on the target with poor results. One aircraft dropped 10 bundles of T185 leaflets. In the target area there were 9/10 low clouds with tops at 9,000 to 12,000 feet, no middle clouds and 0/10 to 3/10 high cirrus clouds at 26,000 feet. Visual bombing could not be attempted. Bombs were dropped from the high altitudes of 29,400, 29,200 and 29,100 feet by equipment. The lead Squadron, with weak equipment, had only a fair bomb run with bombs hitting in the southwest side of the city. The high Squadron's equipment malfunctioned, so they bombed on the lead Squadron. The low Squadron equipment was working well and their bombs hit near the aiming point.

A Bender of Wrenches

(Author Unknown)

Here's to the men with greasy hands
Who fuel our planes when the pilot lands.
Who change the tires and oil the squeaks,
Fix the flak damage and stop the leaks.

Tend to the controls to make them fly straight,
Wait for the planes when the pilots are late.
Who smooth the scratches and rivet the panels,
Check "Loud and clear" on the radio channels.

Who read the write-ups and make the repairs,
Check the lines and wires for chafing and tears.
Who pull the chocks and walk the wings,
And do a million maint'nance things.

Who watch as the bird takes off and flies.
So here's a salute to those hard-working guys
From a group of flyers who seldom ponder
The men who keep us in the wild blue yonder.

KICKING OUT A HUNG-UP BOMB AT 28,000 FEET

Unusual Experience of T/Sgt. Raymond N. Calenberg

B-17G #42-97298 The Floose 358BS (VK-H)

Today we went to Brunswick, Germany. We were briefed for intense flak and intense fighter opposition. That, along with the fact that we were going deep into Germany, made us all plenty scared. Everything went as planned until bombs away.

One of the 500 lb General Purpose bombs wouldn't release or salvo. It was half in and half out, since it was hanging by only the rear clip on the bomb shackle and the arming wire had pulled free. So we had to get rid of this armed bomb — and fast.

I called for the bomb bay doors closed and then went into the bomb bay with a walk around oxygen bottle to see if I could reach the bomb shackle with the bottle. There was nothing else available to reach the outer wall of the bomb bay. When I found that I could reach the shackle with the walk around oxygen bottle, I went back into the radio room to give instructions over the intercom to our waist gunner, who could see me from his position, and to our bombardier, as to what I was going to do and what signals I would use.

Then I went back into the bomb bay wearing my chest pack parachute, oxygen mask plugged into a walk around oxygen bottle, and carrying an extra walk around bottle to knock the bomb off of the shackle. I sat down on the cat walk and twisted my feet around the braces.

Then, hanging on to the upright bomb bay supports, as best I could with my left arm, I signaled for the bomb bay doors to be opened. The waist gunner called the bombardier who opened the bomb bay doors. I was breathing out of one end of the oxygen bottle and swinging at the bomb trip release with the other end of the bottle. For a split second as I looked down and saw the clouds flying by I became terrifyingly aware that 28,000 feet below was the enemy and I couldn't afford to fumble now.

After four swings with the bottle, the bomb fell away! I then signaled for the bomb bay doors to be closed and I proceeded to drag myself out of the bomb bay and into the radio room again. Whew! What a relief! Now when I think of what could have happened, I feel a bit light headed. But it went as planned.

My prayers must have done it, because my actions were fully controlled by adrenalin at the time and I gave little thought of the possible consequences. And I do pray on the bomb runs especially, during all our missions. I'm really dragging anchor tonight! And so to bed!
