

303rd BG (H) Combat Mission No. 343

22 March 1945

Target: Military Camp, Tactical Target at Buer, Germany

Crews Dispatched: 39

Length of Mission: 6 hours, 1 minute

Bomb Load: 12 x 100 lb H.E. M30, 6 x 260 lb M81 Fragmentation

Bombing Altitude: 25,200, 24,000, & 26,000 ft

Ammo Fired: 850 rounds

The 8th Air Force went after barracks, military encampments and airfields. A military camp near Buer was the first priority (visual) and second priority target (GEE-H). The Verden airfield (visual) was the third priority target, any airfield east of the Rhine River (visual), the fourth, and any military installation in a specified area, the fifth. Major Robert W. Sheets, CO 427BS and LtCol W.C. Sipes flew Scouter aircraft.

Thirty-nine 303rd BG(H) B-17s dropped 469 100-lb. H.E. M30, 220 260-lb. M81 fragmentation, 50 500-lb. M17 incendiary and 10 500-lb. RDX incendiary bombs, and ten leaflet units on the first priority target. There were no clouds in the target area, but there the considerable haze hindered visibility and obscured the results. The lead and low Squadrons bombed visually with poor results. The high Squadron bombed by GEE-H with the lead bombardier making a visual assist at the end of the bomb run. Results could not be observed.

The High Squadron bombed by GEE-H with the Lead Bombardier 2Lt. Andrew T. Reed making a visual assist at the end of the bomb run. Lead pilot and co-pilot, 1Lts. Werner G. Goering and Barton F. Walker, in #44-8238 360BS, had problems about four minutes before bombs away. Severe flak knocked out the pilot's oxygen system, #1 engine and interphone. The C-1 autopilot became inoperative and an electrical fire in the cockpit fuse box filled the cockpit with smoke. The pilots remained calm, maintained good control and completed the bomb run manually. Bombs were dropped on the smokescreen obscured target. Only a few bombs hit the target.

The bombers encountered no enemy air opposition. Although the support received by 95 P-51s was reportedly poor, it appeared that fighters were in the area but could not be seen in the haze. Moderate and accurate flak was only encountered in the target area. Twelve aircraft sustained major battle damage and twelve minor damage. There were no casualties and all aircraft returned safely to Molesworth.

Poor old "Thunderbird" looked terrible when she retired. She had been the first un-camouflaged B-17 to arrive at the 303rd. For fear of drawing German attention, she was painted olive drab and gray without the benefit of a primer coat. Much of the paint had worn off the nose. She had an unpainted cowling for #2 engine was covered with patches. Her individual aircraft letter "U" was changed to "G" after she was parked.

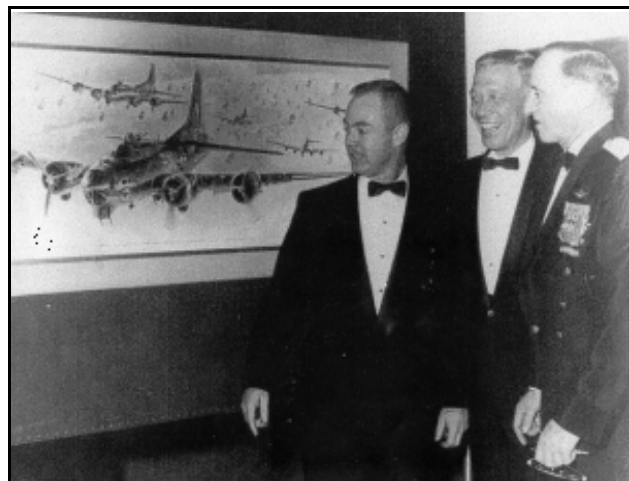

1st Thunderbird Pilot
2Lt Vern L. Moncur

Old reliable Thunderbird flew 112 bombing missions from Molesworth, England for the 303rd Bomb Group. The original Thunderbird pilot was 2Lt Vern L. Moncur. He led her on 23 of her first 29 recorded flights and 20 of her first 24 credited missions. Also, his log book shows 6 more Thunderbird flights for which there are no official records, beginning with the 23 January 1944 "test hop of a new plane." Lt Moncur's crew was the only crew ever assigned to Thunderbird as their primary aircraft. After Moncur's Crew finished their 28 mission combat tour, Thunderbird became a "first mission ship," given to new crews to get them off to a good start—and a good start it was, as no regular crew member was ever injured on a Thunderbird mission.

Thunderbird was retired when World War II ended. Sadly, with the war over she was declared surplus, flown to Kingman, Arizona and scrapped.

Thunderbird's 134 Recorded Flights:

- 112 Credited Missions
- 85 different target cities
- 1 Credited Abort
- 8 Aborts (mechanical and 1 mid-air collision)
- 6 Recalls (weather)
- 4 Spare (early return)
- 1 Failed to take off (blown tire)
- 3 Practice missions with 1 simulation

538 THUNDERBIRD CREWMEN

The listing below contains names of all 538 crewmen that official records indicate flew on a Thunderbird Crew. This includes the crews on all the 134 recorded Thunderbird flights, of which 112 were credited combat missions. There were undoubtedly more flights than this, such as for training or transition, but we are not aware of any records to document them. The ranks and crew positions shown are usually those that were current for the individual's first Thunderbird flight. Many were promoted or flew in different crew positions on later Thunderbird flights. All crewmen were from the 359th BS(H) except where noted.
